5,664 Due At Schools On Tuesday

The doors of the city schools will swing open Tuesday morning as pupils begin the 1966-67 term.

An estimated enrollment of 5,664 is expected, with a full-day session to be held.

Supt. Paul Blair said the enrollment is about the same as the previous term, with no changes expected. Schools will open with a teacher shortage, he pointed out, explaining a junior high industrial arts teacher, a high school English teacher, a social studies instructor and commercial instructor are needed to complete the staff.

SOME substitutes will be used at East Junior High and in the commercial department at the high school. There are student teachers who will be employed as regular instructors as soon as they finish their student teaching, Blair said.

New teachers will meet with the superintendent and principals at 4:15 p. m. Tuesday at Westgate School. All new teachers, administrators and deans will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner Tuesday evening in the school cafeteria.

Blair said lunch will be served at the Westgate cafeteria the first day.

Massillon Man Chosen

Principal Named For High School

The appointment of Clifford Lynch of Massillon as principal at East Liverpool High School was announced today by Supt. Paul Blair.

Official action on the position will be taken by the Board of Education at its meeting next Thursday at 8 p. m.

Blair said he will recommend a two-year contract for Lynch, who succeeds Carl Pelini, elevated to the post of assistant superintendent of schools.

Lynch, 29, is married and is the father of two children. He has been serving as assistant principal in the Massillon school system.

A graduate of Kent State University, he did undergraduate work at Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland, and Ohio State University, Columbus. He received his graduate training in school administration in Kent.

Lynch is a member of the Ohio Education Association, the legislative committee of the OEA, the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the National Education Association, the East Central Ohio Teachers Association and presently is vice president of the Noon Optimist Club of Massillon.

Johnson Dedicates Dam During W. Va. Ceremony

SUMMERSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — President Johnson, ranging far afield from the November elections, told West Virginians today the world soon will face a choice between war or ample stocks of pure water.

The occasion was the dedication here of a $46-million flood control dam — the largest earth-and-rock structure of its kind east of the Mississippi.

In a speech prepared for the occasion, Johnson said the world's need for pure water is growing so fast "that we are in a race with disaster."

If people fail to meet the challenge, he said, "I can assure you that not even America's unprecedented military might will be able to preserve the peace for long."

It was another campaign season weekend for Johnson. He scheduled stops today in Pennsylvania and West Virginia and, on Monday, will be moving through Michigan and Ohio — all the while searching for Democratic votes in the November election.

From West Virginia, Johnson was bound for Dallastown, Pa., to help celebrate the community's 100th birthday. Many of the local menfolk have grown beards for the occasion.

Discussing global water problems at Summersville, Johnson said the United States will sponsor an international conference on water for peace in Washington next May 23-31. The Soviet Union and a number of other Communist nations will be invited to send representatives to the assembly. Johnson had announced last year that such a conference would be held, but its timing had not been disclosed before.

The President's big argument for pure water on an earth-circling scale was based on the assumption that people denied it will fight for it.

Even today, he said, nearly half a billion persons live in control dam — the largest earth-and-rock structure of its kind east of the Mississippi.

Contractor Finishes City Street Program

The Ohio Valley Paving Co. of St. Clairsville, contractor, completed work in mid-afternoon Friday on East Liverpool's annual low-cost summer street surfacing program, Safety Service Director Robert E. Vodrey reported.

The project concluded in the Pleasant Heights area, Belmar Ave., near the Pleasant Heights fire station, was the last street to be treated.

The company launched the job Monday. It applied an initial surface to sections of 34 streets — projects petitioned by property owners who paid 50 per cent of the cost. Then it applied a seal coat and fine slag to streets originally surfaced in 1962 and 1964. The seal coat was applied without expense to the property owners. The city pays its share of the program out of income tax revenues.

2 More U.S. Planes Lost In Viet War

Shot Down During Raids On Supply, Infiltration Routes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military headquarters said today two more American planes were shot down over North Viet Nam during raids on the main supply and infiltration routes to the south.

Rainstorms again curtailed U.S. air blows against the north and an elusive enemy in the south reduced allied ground action once more to small skirmishes.

High-altitude B52 bombers, flying above the foul weather, dropped tons of explosives at noon today on a Viet Cong base camp and training area close to the Cambodian border. The bombers hit at much-battered War Zone C 70 miles northwest of Saigon in Tay Ninh Province. The losses of the latest two planes raised to 357 the number of American warplanes to go down in action over North Viet Nam.

One plane was a Navy A1 Skyraider from the aircraft carrier Intrepid which was shot down 40 miles northwest of Dong Hoi Friday. The other was an Air Force F105 Thunderchief which went down 40 miles north of the same coastal city.

The pilots of both planes were rescued.

In air raids over North Viet Nam Friday, American pilots flew 96 missions, all concentrated in the southern panhandle as thunderstorms prevented strikes in the Hanoi-Haiphong areas and the Red River Valley.

Air Force planes attacked main supply Route 101 and a U.S. spokesman said they cut the road in 11 places within a 20-mile section.

In other air action Friday three flights of B52 jet bombers pounded suspected enemy trenches, bunkers and foxholes 35 miles southeast of Saigon in support of the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 173rd Airborne.

On the ground, South Vietnamese reported killing 57 of the enemy, when more than 1,000 government troops fought a

Vodrey Picks New Fireman

Army Veteran, 26, To Report Sept. 16

Norman Rambo, 26, of 819 Bank St. has been appointed to the fire department, giving it a full complement of 31 officers and men for the first time in months, Safety Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

Now manager of the automotive department at the Montgomery Ward & Co. store on E. 5th St., Rambo is scheduled to report for duty on Friday, Sept. 16, at the beginning of a new city payroll period.

An Army veteran and a native of East Liverpool, Rambo was chosen from a list certified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The post pays $400 monthly for the first six months, then automatically advances to $440. Rambo will fill a vacancy created by the recent retirement of Fireman Delmar Manning. Manning was on sick leave for several months before his resignation.

The department is comprised of 27 firemen, three assistant chiefs and a chief.

Guardsmen, Police Keep Dayton Quiet

Bitterness Follows Thursday Violence; Brutality Charged

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Armed National Guardsmen and city police kept Dayton's West Side and near downtown district comparatively quiet again Friday night but there was one report of some gunfire.

Officers went into an area looking for a carload of white youths who were reported to have fired at a Negro. They said they did not find either the Negro or the white boys.

The area was the scene of rioting and looting Thursday in which one man was killed, about 25 persons injured and more than 130 arrested.

Although the violence had subsided there was bitterness.

Charles Tate, chairman of the Dayton Alliance for Racial Equality, accused police of brutality in arrests Thursday. He said Negroes were clubbed and "were not resisting."

A denial came from Police Col. C. W. Martz, who said "we're handling a riot situation and we're going to do everything we can to maintain peace."

Army jeeps, carrying two to four Guardsmen and policemen, patrolled the predominantly Negro West Side and western edge of the downtown area throughout Friday and during the night.

There were some sporadic fires but they quickly were extinguished. Police and Guardsmen.

Flames Level Residence On District Farm

80-Year-Old Home Near Lisbon Swept Early This Morning

LISBON — The 80-year-old Rudibaugh farmhouse on Roller Coaster Rd., three miles south of here, burned to the ground early today.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones, formerly of 8th Ave., LaCrosse, who were purchasing the farm on a land contract, left Friday morning for a vacation in Columbus and are not yet aware of the loss.

Their four children are staying with relatives. Jones is a millwright helper at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Origin of the blaze has not been determined. The fire was reported at 1:20 a. m. by Jones' widowed mother, Mrs. Clarence Jones, who lives in a house trailer within sight of the house.

She said she awakened to see the house ablaze. Lisbon volunteer firemen responded to the alarm and found the flames.

In 'Fair' Condition

Pedestrian Hurt When Hit By Car

A 54-year-old East Liverpool man was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered Friday night when he was struck by an auto while crossing W. 3rd St. about 10 feet west of Jackson St., police reported. It was one of a series of four traffic mishaps over night.

James Click of 225 W. 2nd St. was struck by a 1959 model sedan operated by Robert Lee Wires, 19, of 131 W. Church Ln., officers said. Knocked to the pavement by the impact, he suffered a deep laceration of the right elbow.

Click apparently was struck by a side mirror projecting from a mount on the door of Wires' car. Officers said a screw holding the mirror in place was torn out of the metal of the auto body.

9 Drivers Fined, 2 Others Forfeit

THE MISHAP was timed at 9:31. Wires told police he was driving west on W. 3rd St. about 30 miles an hour with his headlights on the lower beam when he saw Click in the middle of the street. Wires said he sounded his horn and applied his brakes, but his car swerved sideways and hit the pedestrian a glancing blow with the right front fender.

Click arose and started to walk away, but Wires placed him in his auto and took him to the hospital, the motorist told police.

Click told police he was about halfway across the street when he saw the car approaching. He began to run, he said, but was hit by the auto. Police measured 30 feet of skid marks at the scene of the mishap.

A fire hydrant was damaged in a crash at 4:59 this morning on Pennsylvania Ave. near Maryland Ave., but the 17-year-old driver apparently escaped injury, police said.

Clem Goddard of 1725 Holliday St. was traveling east about 30 miles an hour when the car swerved off the street and hit the fire plug, police said.

There was damage to the front of the 1959 auto, registered in the name of Donnelly Davis, also of 1725 Holliday St., officers said.

Patrolman Jack Strobel, who investigated, said Goddard was unable to explain the crash.

Two cars were damaged in a collision Friday at 4:43 p.m. on W. 4th St. five feet west of Persimmon Alley, police reported.

The collision involved a parked auto owned by Kenneth P. Dunn of Glenmoor and a 1966 model convertible driven by Linda Sue Friess, 25, of Glenmoor and owned by Barbara Fitzsimmons of Rogers R.D. 1, officers said.

Fire Damages Paint At Etruria St. Home

Fire damaged paint on a kitchen cabinet at the home of Ben Becze of 1450 Etruria St. Friday at 10:31 p.m.

City firemen said a box of trash in the kitchen caught fire and the flames scorched the cabinet.

Firemen were called yesterday at 3:35 p.m. to the corner of Cadmus and Minerva Sts. when a short circuit developed in the wiring of a Hertz Rental truck. Damage was minor.

The mouth is the buccal cavity.

quick, savage battle in a mangrove swamp in the Mekong Delta about 120 miles southwest of Saigon.
The troops reported seizing a large supply of ammunition and weapons and destroying enemy communications materiel, other equipment and a small medical station. Government casualties were unreported.
South Viet Nam's chief of state said Friday that a large-scale allied landing in North Viet Nam may well be necessary to eliminate the Communist threat to his country and halt infiltration from the north.
Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chairman of the 20-man military and civilian directory of the central government and chief of state, said such a landing would be a strategic blocking move rather than an invasion. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has also mentioned a land attack against the north.

On the political scene, Thieu announced he had no plans to run for president next year.
The Viet Cong's clandestine liberation radio has stepped up its drive to keep South Vietnamese from voting in the Sept. 11 national election — promising "merciless punishment" to anyone who takes part.
Backing up their threats in the populous Saigon-Gia Dinh capital district, the Viet Cong killed 12 persons and wounded 18 others Thursday in attacks on a civilian bus and a village election office.
The South Vietnamese government countered the moves with increased patrols and a decree providing life imprisonment for anyone convicted of sabotaging the voting.
Campaign meetings have been sparsely attended, although the election is only eight days away. Part of the reason is that those elected will be restricted to writing a new constitution and will have no legislative functions.

Cleveland Councilman Quits Democrat Party
CLEVELAND (AP)—Arthur N. Kruczyk, Ward 6 councilman, has quit the Democratic Party, charging that its leaders have allowed Republicans to control the board of elections.
The resignation Friday from the party came after an argument at an election board meeting over reshaping his ward. Director of the board is Ray C. Miller, a Republican.

A FUND campaign is still in progress to raise additional money with which to complete the $13,000 structure.
A "special gifts" solicitation included the mailing of letters to some 400 business establishments and others and members of the East Liverpool Rotary Club have joined in another phase of the drive.
The amphitheater is a non-profit operation, with no charge for admission being planned. If the present fund campaign is successful, those in charge said it is proposed to expand the project even further.

The new facility will be used for band concerts, outdoor theater productions, church services and other needs as they arise.
Workers have volunteered their services in the actual construction of the amphitheater, which is located about 200 yards from the main entrance at the park, on the right drive.

Those wishing to contribute to the fund also may mail their checks to Robert E. Boyce, treasurer, at Post Office Box 772, East Liverpool.

NEW CUMBERLAND — Linda Ann Turner, 24, of Newell was fined $60 and costs in a hearing before Squire John D. Herron here Friday for using Ohio auto license plates while a resident of West Virginia. She was cited by Donald Dunlevy, constable.
In another hearing, Fred West, 57, of Chester forfeited a $57 appearance bond which he posted for selling code horse sport sheets without a hawker's or peddler's license. West was apprehended by the Hancock County sheriff's department.

WOHI-FM Silenced By Condenser Failure
WOHI's FM transmitter was knocked off the air today by failure of a neutralizing condenser and the company said a replacement part could not be obtained immediately because of the long holiday weekend.

Water Break Fixed Quickly

A city water department line crew completed repair this morning on a break in a 4-inch line that was discovered about 11 p. m. Friday on Fairmont St., just off Orchard Grove Ave.

Supt. Harold Peterson said the repair was finished about 9 a. m. and water was turned into the line again. The service was turned off about midnight Friday to allow the repair to begin. A crew worked through the night to fix the break.

Peterson said the turn-off affected approximately 15 to 20 homes on Fairmont St. and Bright View Circle and a section of Smithfield St.

The crew found a split in the 4-inch line. Just in case there is another fault in the line, the excavation will be left open over the weekend, Peterson said.

The line was being allowed to refill slowly after the break was repaired. Peterson said the section will be kept under observation over the holiday weekend, but he believes the difficulty has been corrected.

Dayton

men were taunted at times by bystanders on the streets. Guardsmen were on duty at state liquor stores, even those in the heart of the downtown district.

Prior to the report of the shooting, Maj. Gen. Erwin C. Hostetter, Ohio Adjutant General, said that some of the 1,000 National Guardsmen on duty might be sent home today, but that announcement drew some objections.

The proposal to withdraw some guardsmen today was opposed by about 30 representatives of religious, civil rights and neighborhood organizations. They urged that the Guardsmen "be kept here as long as necessary to restore peace and order."

Meanwhile, plans went ahead for a visit here Monday by President Johnson.

Mayor Dave Hall said, "I don't think we're going to have any more serious trouble." And Martz said, "everything is normal."

The President is scheduled to make a Labor Day speech at the Montgomery County Fair.

Good Weather Seen At Ohio Fair Windup
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Fair is in its windup weekend, showing no signs of running out of good weather for visitors.

The total attendance, already past the all-time record for a fair, reached 1,164,541 Friday night, at the close of the exposition's ninth day.

The target that fair officials are shooting for — 1.5 million visitors — seems well within reach. Last weekend, 400,000 people jammed the fairgrounds in two days.

Friday's attendance was 71,346.

For this holiday three-day weekend, country singer Jimmy Dean, a big hit at the 1965 fair, heads the bill for the nightly grandstand show. The Bucyrus Little Theater is also presenting "South Pacific" nightly.

There are 27 cubic feet in a cubic yard.

U.S. Orders Expulsion Of Soviet Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Russian Embassy aide has been ordered to leave the United States after allegedly trying to buy secret data, especially about the U.S. moon probe.

In a terse announcement Friday, the State Department said it had demanded the expulsion of Valentin A. Revin, a science officer at the Russian Embassy here.

It said only that Revin tried to obtain classified information from an American citizen in return for large sums of money, but that the FBI thwarted these attempts.

Revin was given three working days to pack his bags and leave.

From other sources it was learned that the American with whom he made contact was a Washington area scientist who kept the FBI fully informed from the beginning and acted with FBI approval.

The official announcement did not specify the amount of money involved. But it was learned that Revin paid the American more than $5,000, which was turned over to the FBI.

Revin sought particularly to obtain data on the U.S. space program, with special emphasis on the man-on-the-moon project, it was learned.

Under FBI surveillance, the American dropped material for Revin in secluded spots around Washington. Marks were placed on certain pages of telephone directories at specified phone booths to let Revin know of a pickup.

Revin had been under FBI surveillance for a year.

Man, 36, Arrested On Charge Of Murder
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—William Glenn Goham, 36, was arrested in Delaware Friday and brought here to face a first-degree murder charge in the death of a Columbus woman.

Mrs. Jane Whittington, 36, mother of two, was slain early Friday, police said. There were over a dozen stab wounds on her body, found in the kitchen of her apartment. Goham, of Columbus, was described by police as the victim's boyfriend.

Ruling Due Tuesday On Job In Cleveland
CLEVELAND (AP)—A ruling is due Tuesday on whether self-proclaimed Black Nationalist Harrel Jones should lose his job with the Cleveland sewer department.

The ruling is to be made by Vincent M. DeMello, utilities director. Jones, 26, was cited by the grand jury as a "recurring personality" in the recent rioting in Cleveland's Hough area.

Jones also has been suspended by the city for "excessive absenteeism."

Truths For The Long Pull

There are philosophers in the stock market, but they're rarely heard from when stock marketeers are in one of their periodic frenzies.

If they were consulted now — in the midst of one of these frenzies — they could only point out what they've pointed out before when their fellow marketeers were behaving the same way.

They would recall how methodical investors take advantage of skittery investors who broke and run. Bernard Baruch made a fortune for himself and told his youthful secretary, Bill Rose, how to do likewise by buying undervalued securities and hanging on to them.

They would recall that Arthur Brisbane, a once-famous Hearst columnist, advised his readers not to sell America short, yet many did — and regretted it to their dying days, while jumping off high buildings.

They would recall that every long-range observer has detected the same thing about the people whose mass behavior makes the stock market behave the way it does.

These people — in the mass — are extremists. They over-react. They are too hopeful or too hopeless. And — again in the mass — they are speculators. Decisions they make as speculators have no more bearing on real values than parlays of bettors at a race track have on horse-breeding.

Stock market speculation today has a built-in stabilizing factor — the cold professionalism of investment trusts. Little investors are of declining importance compared with former periods of marketeering uncertainty.

This will not keep stock marketeers as a whole from underestimating economic growth and overestimating economic handicaps, but it will minimize the risk of over-reaction on the part of those marketeers who in any other form of speculation would have to be categorized as gamblers, nothing more.

Pigskin Takes Over

With the "Green Weenie" exerting its magic down the stretch on behalf of the Pittsburgh Pirates, it's somewhat difficult to accept the fact that the high school football season is with us again.

But with us it is, and the pigskin now moves into the spotlight, a veteran of athletic wars in contrast to the upstart "Weenie."

Oak Glen gets things under way tonight when it invades Weirton for a battle with an always powerful Madonna eleven. The East Liverpool Potters and the remainder of the district teams will swing into action later.

Each year we wish all the teams good luck. While, as always, some must win and some must lose, we hope those who win do so as proud and deserving champions and those who lose do so in the true spirit of competition.

District football fans have every reason to be looking forward to another exciting season.

Let 'Em Be Indians

A friend of ours worries about Indians. Perhaps he has seen too many westerns on TV reruns.

"Here we are after all these generations and more than two billion dollars' worth of economic aid to a handful of Indians," he says, "—and what have we got to show for it? The same old Indian affairs scandal. The same old frustration. Lo the poor Indian is in a sad state."

He was reminded that Indian aid is being stepped up by the Great Society. He was not impressed. He explained why.

"It's because Indians aren't interested in being like us," he said. "They want to be Indians. Our efforts to make them be like us are as futile as if they tried to make us be like Indians. We don't want to be Indians. We don't even want Indians to be Indians."

What did he propose to do about it?

His answer was thought-provoking. He said he wanted us to learn from our mistakes. He said he wanted us to acknowledge the futility of hammering everybody into the same mold — and never mind the cost.

He thought the United States government should be careful never to try to make people be something they didn't want to be, because it would get nowhere, waste money and produce a sense of failure. That is what happened to it and the Indians.

He thought that is what would happen to the United States and any other ethnic minority it tried to change into something else in accordance with the image-making of a numerical majority. He thought government should help people to be themselves, not somebody else. And he doubted that it would cost very much to help people be themselves.

A United Effort

The amphitheater which will be dedicated Sunday at Thompson Park will stand as a monument to a united effort.

Those who have labored long and hard on behalf of the project have a right to be proud of themselves. They have made a worthwhile contribution to the daily scene.

The battle is not over yet, however. Money still is needed to help meet the expense of the venture — to complete the job already started and to expand the amphitheater facilities in the future.

Those who have contributed in no way to date have an opportunity to do so now by mailing a check to the committee in charge of the non-profit program or by coming through when contacted by fund solicitors.

The amphitheater is not for just a few, it's for the area. Therefore, the burden of its support should not fall on just a few.

With adequate financing and proper care, the Ralph Johnson Memorial Amphitheater should serve long and well through the years.

A Look At Organized Labor

By Richard Spong

Organized labor is in deep trouble. I could give you a story that would make headlines across the country. I could tell you things that would blow organized labor apart. But I'm not going to do it.—Walter P. Reuther.

Walter Reuther, the shrewd head of the United Automobile Workers and vice president of the AFL-CIO, rarely speaks in hyperbole. So when he says most regrettably, organized labor is in trouble, the words take on a special meaning.

The signs are all there to read. A scant six years ago the AFL-CIO could boast a perhaps inflated membership of 18 million. Today the more realistic figure is 13½ million. Perhaps more hurting, the biggest union of them all, with some 1.7 million members, is the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Jimmy Hoffa isn't about to lead his spectacularly faithful flock back into the ranks of Big Labor, even if Reuther and AFL-CIO President George Meany would have him.

LABOR DAY is a good occasion to sit back and take a horizon view of the big labor movement. Labor Day was first celebrated 84 years ago by a parade and labor holiday in New York City, instituted by the Central Labor Union at the suggestion of Peter McGuire, a carpenter and one of the two founders of the American Federation of Labor.

Even the most optimistic labor leader of those days could hardly have anticipated that in only slightly more than four score years unions would have acquired the power they wield today.

Yet, in a very important sense, the power is more apparent than real. Meany has said that it's "bunk" for any unionist to pretend that he controls "even one vote besides his own."

Although it is true that labor votes counted heavily in the elections of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, it's equally certain that a lot of apostate labor votes put Gen. Eisenhower into office twice.

Labor Day this year is an occasion for especially troubled reflection. Every leader of a union must be keenly aware that labor has not got a single major bill out of Congress since the elections of 1964.

ORGANIZED LABOR TODAY is in danger of running afoul of its principles. John Herling, a labor writer by no means hostile to the AFL-CIO, suggests: "As the corporations were vigorously trying to organize opinion in their establishments, the unions were losing touch with their rank and file. In short, the unions were running the danger of losing their consistency."

Labor Day is traditionally observed by rallies, by special church services and masses, by union picnics from Texas to beyond the Canadian border. But the chances are this year that Mr. Union Member and his family will spend the day much as do their neighbors — at the ball game or the races, picnicking, fishing, swimming or on the highways.

Labor's public image has been marred seriously in recent months. The tardy settlement in the airlines dispute came on top of a strike which killed one of the nation's oldest newspapers after 113 days. A nervous and resentful public is disturbed by other evidences of union resistance to automation.

A recent newspaper poll shows that 40 per cent of the public thinks that labor should be more strictly controlled, as against 36 per cent who think it should not.

By Truman Twill

Purely Personal

Where will it all end — prices forced higher and higher by people who want to find out how much the traffic will bear? How long has it been, reader, since you bought a pound of caviar or a Rolls Royce? That's where it ends.

It is reported reliably that cigar smoking among women is catching on like a, well, like a cigar fire. In case the lady I hear coffee water for in the morning never heard me tell this, cigar smokers always were welcome at our house when I was young, if they went outside to do it.

I commend to all people trying to make sense of the stock market two alternatives for determining the state of this nation — tea leaves and the endless milling of children on public playgrounds. The Romans used chicken entrails, but that's messy.

If you missed it, the biggest economic news in Britain is a natural-gas strike in the North Sea, 42 miles offshore. Everybody is happy about this, except Welsh coal miners, whose struggling industry already has been nationalized to keep it from coming apart at the seams.

Skeptics hammer away on the theme that the New Hampshire sweepstakes has been a financial disappointment. The fact remains that one horse race a year is netting upward of $2.5 million for the state's public schools, which is the kind of disappointment it's possible to bear.

What all of us may live long enough to see, if we don't go blind first, is a bride wearing a four-inch mini-skirt with a train in back Choo-choo!

Into The Very Halls Of Congress

Federal Watchdog Body Urged

By Victor Riesel

LONDON — Like a modern Scarlet Pimpernel, Walter Reuther pops up here and there, and like Kilroy, the redhaired Auto Union chief has been there before you as you arrive at the suites and palaces of Europe's heads of state.

In Europe, Reuther is American labor's minister without portfolio, and without George Meany's permission, though that does not shake the Detroitier much. He knows more prime ministers personally than does Lyndon B. Johnson.

From my conversations with several heads of state these last few weeks I would judge that he has exerted considerable philosophical influence on them — and they on him. This is especially so since, like Prime Minister Harold Wilson here and Prime Minister Tage Erlander in Sweden, they have met other U.S. labor chiefs only occasionally and certainly only casually.

SINCE THERE IS an empathy between Reuther and these Social Democrat heads of state, he they in London, Stockholm, West Berlin or Rome, it's inevitable that some of their policies would catch his imagination. He would like to fight for similar policies in the U.S., but he is a practical man and knows that politics is the art of the possible.

One phenomenon he discovered abroad which he believes is possible to import and implement is a sort of one man national public appeals board. He found it in Sweden, from which it spread to other Scandinavian lands and just the other month was established here in England.

It's the Ombudsman. It is a Swedish word for the chap, appointed by the Swedish Parliament, to whom anyone can come with complaints about everything and everybody except the King.

In Britain, the brand new Ombudsman is the former auditor general, Sir Edmund Compton. He can be fired only by Parliament. His task is to protect the little man against the government bureaucrats, be it a minister of state or policeman. Sir Edmund is expected to protect the man in the street at no cost to the citizen.

NOW WHAT WALTER REUTHER wants is an American national Ombudsman — as well as one for each state and city. Though unnoticed, the recent Auto Workers Union convention passed a resolution which urged: "Establishment of an Office of Complaints administered by a commissioner whose responsibility would be to protect the ordinary citizen against governmental neglect or abuse of power, and whose office, operating nationally and regionally to serve purposes similar to those for which the UAW Public Review Board was created, would investigate citizen complaints against the civil service, administrative tribunals, regulatory commissions, and possibly, as in the case of the Swedish Ombudsman, against the courts, prisons and police as well."

This is but one inter-action in the exchange of ideas. It's the beginning of a new era, just as Reuther in a sense is the beginning.

LABOR IS THE NEW jet set. For many years its leaders have gone abroad. They have operated on many continents. Now that their old colleagues are becoming the heads of state, the American labor leaders will look to them for philosophy as well as ideas — if not ideology. Especially since these laborite heads of state will be in office for a long time.

As I left Prime Minister Wilson, for example, I told him of an appointment with Sweden's Prime Minister Erlander. Mr. Wilson said "Give him my fondest regards," and then whimsically, almost to himself, added, "He's been in office 17 years." Mr. Wilson will hold the premiership for at least five and perhaps ten.

He will get to know many American labor leaders — especially the newcomers still to make the headlines.

What will they take back to the U.S. from such heads of state in the future?

BRITAIN PLANS to nationalize the steel industry in a year or so. The bill already is in the House of Commons.

Probably, the Labor party will renationalize "haulage." Meaning trucking. It is not known in the U.S., but the British government still owns 16,000 "vans" from the last period of nationalization.

One can also expect the Labor government to nationalize the docks and harbors and place them under a National Ports Authority. There will be regional Port Councils and on them will be longshoremen making policy, deciding on investments, improvements, wages, automation and development.

It's hardly likely now that the majority of American labor leadership will call for any nationalization of any industries in the U.S. But even the men least likely to be considered internationalists are joining the jet set. None other than Charles Luna, leader of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Teddy Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen, have been here for an international parley on transportation.

Who knows what may develop in this age of supersonic travel and ideas?

The Wrong Way

By David Lawrence

Faulty Thinking Hampers 'Rights'.

Many unbelievable things have occurred since street demonstrations began to be championed a few years ago but nobody probably would have predicted that, in the name of civil rights, the right of privacy would be invaded. Now the home of a judge on the bench in Wisconsin has been picked for 11 days just because he belongs to a private club that doesn't have any Negro members.

Wisconsin's National Guardsmen had to be called to aid the police in maintaining order when the residence of Circuit Court Judge Robert David Lawrence Cannon in Wauwatosa, a town near Milwaukee, was surrounded by pickets who in turn drew hecklers. Even a Roman Catholic priest took the lead in the protest march and picketing despite the admonitions of his bishop, who tried to dissuade him from continuing the demonstrations.

If it's wrong for private clubs to choose for their members persons they wish to enroll—either of one race or one religion or one point of view in politics or business or anything else—then the phrase civil rights loses its meaning. What is being witnessed is a form of extremism which grows out of the failure of top officials in government and leading members of Congress of both parties to speak out against demonstrations and marches which can provoke violence as a result of the bitter feeling engendered.

THERE HAS BEEN a steady deterioration in community life in America as the police have struggled in vain to stop the rioting and the demonstrations that produce the riots. The concept of free speech has rightly been extolled as the constitutional privilege of the individual but the Supreme Court of the United States, which interprets the Constitution, has repeatedly ruled that free speech has limits and that incitement to violence by speechmaking or otherwise is not immune from punishment.

A Supreme Court ruling has declared that "falsely shouting fire in a theater" is not free speech and creates a panic. Incitement to disorder is a crime.

Congress, in its civil rights legislation, has again and again specifically exempted from governmental intervention any private club or organization. It has stipulated only that racial discrimination must not be practiced in any school or facility maintained by the federal or state or city governments or to which government funds are supplied. As for restaurants and hotels, it has been written into law that only those businesses which affect interstate commerce come under the statutes which ban racial or religious discrimination.

FRATERNAL ORDERS always have been considered private. The Eagles' Lodge to which Judge Cannon belongs is similar to many other lodges and fraternal organizations. If there were any merit in the contention that private clubs should not be allowed to discriminate, such a viewpoint should be presented to the members of Congress and State Legislatures.

The people's representatives have the right to change the law at any time and include private clubs in the same category as public schools and other public institutions. The right to send protests to their representatives is available to all citizens, so no disservice to the people would result if street demonstrations that have an unconstitutional purpose were prohibited. There are plenty of ways for opinions on all issues to be expressed in public forums without resorting to demonstrations that arouse passions.

Unfortunately, not enough effort has been directed to ways to educate the people on how they may lawfully combine to change the Constitution or to let legislation passed to enforce the principle of law and order as embodied in the existing Constitution.

Regrettably, there are some ministers, a few writers and exhibitionists engaging in public debate who accuse anybody who wants to see the Constitution altered by lawful methods as unquestionably racists or bigots. Such irresponsible elements are retarding the progress of the civil rights movement in the attainment of legitimate objectives.

Is the guardian of a good reputation. Many, many dollars are spent each year on Memorials that all too often bring only lifelong disappointment and heartbreaking regret. Knowing little about Memorials, most people are confused by contradictory and conflicting statements and claims made by ill-informed salesmen. If you are not satisfied with commonplace work — if you want nothing less than the best in design, in polishing, in finishing, in carving — then your standards and our own are the same. Yes, a Graham and Wagner Monument offers you nothing less than excellence at a cost within your means. Why not visit our display rooms, where you can shop in comfort and privacy. If you live beyond a visit, we will gladly furnish home counsel or transportation, no obligation, of course. We also carry a complete line of beautifully-designed Bronze Markers, for your convenience. If your family cemetery lot still lacks a Monument, why not consult us? For your protection insist on a Graham and Wagner Memorial.

District Plans 3 Workshops

The first will be Sept. 15 at St. John's Methodist Church, New Martinsville, with reservations due no later than Sept. 12 with Mrs. Don Blackburn of New Martinsville.

The second will be Sept. 22 at the Christ Methodist Church in Weirton, with reservations due by Sept. 19 with Mrs. Truman Williamson of Weirton.

The third and final workshop will be held at the Mt. Olivet Methodist Church in Bethlehem Sept. 29. The deadline for reservations is Sept. 26 with Mrs. Donald Younkens of Wheeling.

Each workshop will begin at 10 a. m. and will end at 2:30 p. m. Lunch will be served by each host society. There will be a nursery provided for pre-school age children.

The program has been planned with the individual society in mind and will be developed around the four major topics: "Officer Responsibility Clinic," "Planning for Small Society," "Program Workshop" and "Introduction to Spiritual Life Study, Christian Being and Doing."

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

"ARE YOU A REVEREND?"

A short time ago a young lad came up to me and asked this question: "Are you a Reverend?" I replied by saying, "No, I am not a Reverend." I could easily see the confusion of this young man. Friends, he was confused not because of what the Bible teaches on this subject but rather over the practice of the religious world. I am sure that others wonder just why it is that preachers of the Church of Christ do not wear this religious title. We offer this article as a brief answer to this question.

First, let it be noted that the Bible condemns the use of religious titles. Jesus spoke of some who seek to lift themselves up by the use of titles in Mt. 23. He stated that they loved these titles. Jesus however, gives these instructions: "But be not ye called Rabbi; for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. And call no man your father upon the earth; for one is your Father, which is in heaven."

Neither be ye called masters for one is your Master, even Christ. But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted. Mt. 23:8-12. In these verses it is quite clear that the Lord forbids the use of religious titles. We must not be called Rabbi, Father or Master. The reason that Jesus gives for this is the fact that we all are brethren. There is no "Clergy" and "Laity" distinction among the members of the body of Christ.

Second, it must be remembered that the Bible just used the term "reverend" in one place. Notice its use in Ps. 111:9 "He sent redemption unto his people; he hath command his covenant for ever: holy and reverend is his name." On first observation we can see that this word is used in reference to God and not to a man. God brought redemption to his people and his name is worthy to be called reverend. The Bible nowhere uses this word as a title to be used to distinguish men.

Third, let us remember that the Apostles and disciples of Christ did not use such titles. You do not ever read of "Reverend Paul". There is no reference to "Reverend Peter" or "Reverend John. If any man deserved such titles, surely these men did, but it is evident that they did not want such. When Peter referred to Paul he did not call him "Reverend" but just said, "brother Paul", 2 Pet. 3:15.

Our appeal has always been for people to go back to the Bible for authority for all that they do. If the Bible authorizes a thing, then we ought to accept it. However, if there is no Bible authority for a thing, we ought to reject it at once. Preachers of the Church of Christ are not "Reverends". May God help us all to go back to His word and to obey its teachings.

The Straight And Narrow

By ROBERT POPP

A CONVICTION ON a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol can be a costly and humiliating experience, but there also are "hidden" costs that pile up later for the motorist long after the case has been disposed of in Municipal Court.

For instance, there is an automatic suspension of the defendant's operator's permit for as long as three years. In actual practice, the suspension for a first offender generally ranges from 60 to 90 days.

It's the license suspension that leads to one of the largest "hidden costs" to the motorist, according to Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, who acts as prosecutor in the local court.

After the suspension decreed by the court has run its course, the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles allows the motorist to seek reinstatement of his permit. But the state requires a special insurance judge determine whether or not the individual is an habitual traffic offender. In the first instance, the law requires suspension of the operator's permit for a minimum of six months. The suspension period lengthens for subsequent cases.

Most "moving violations" rack up two points on the motorist's record at Columbus. But certain more serious offenses, notably drunken driving, leaving the scene of an accident or manslaughter, account for six points each.

IT SOMETIMES happens that a motorist is convicted of drunken driving and a hit-skip violation as the result of a single collision. Then he is open to suspension of his permit under state regulations as well as through the penalty imposed by the local court.

The BMV certifies the defendant's record to the local court. The court then notifies the motorist by certified mail to appear in court on a certain date "to show cause why" his license should not be suspended or revoked if the judge determines he is an habitual traffic offender within the meaning of the Revised Code.

It's possible for a motorist to face a license suspension when his record does not include a conviction for drunken driving or hit-run, but such a case is very rare. Most defendants have two six-point charges against them, generally a pair of drunken driving convictions.

Judge Chertoff usually imposes a minimum fine of $250 and $7.50 costs in a first offense. City ordinances and state law require that he must sentence the defendant to at least three days in jail. The minimum fine is $100. The term can stretch up to the maximum of six months.

The license suspension for the first offender usually is 60 to 90 days.

Then the report goes out to the BMV. If the defendant already has racked up six points for other violations, his record will be back before the court again shortly for possible suspension of his permit as an "habitual offender."

CHERTOFF AND Clark pointed out many other ramifications of a drunk driving arrest—possible loss of the defendant's job, the anguish inflicted on his family, the deaths or injuries and property damage that may have resulted if he was involved in a traffic accident and the real inconvenience of having to commute to work for weeks without being able to drive.

Then there's the possibility of a civil action for damages if persons have been killed or injured or another's car has been smashed up as a result of a collision.

Clark pointed out that a civil action is particularly hard to defend before a jury in the case of a motorist who has the blot of drunk driving on his record.

There's another lesser-known ordinance that provides a penalty for being "in actual physical control" of a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The vehicle need not be in motion when the defendant is taken into custody.

The court generally convicts in such instances if police prove: 1. The defendant was seated behind the wheel of a car; 2. He was intoxicated; 3. The motor was running or the keys were in the ignition and he was attempting to start the auto.

The penalty for being in physical control of an auto while Spotting a suspected tipsy driver, shown in this simulated scene, Patrolman Charles A. Winters asks him to step out of the car and present his operator's permit.

Intoxicated generally is $100 and costs, but the ordinance permits a fine of up to $500.

Until a few years ago, there also was a state law against so-called "physical control." It was dropped from the state code. However, most Ohio cities already had enacted municipal codes that remained in force after the state law was dropped.

SECTION 416 of the City Code covers drunken driving. It says: "No person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor, narcotic drugs or opiates shall operate a motor vehicle of any kind within the corporate limits of the city."

Those words "under the influence of alcohol" sometimes cause misunderstanding on the part of the defendants. They feel that they are not guilty unless they are literally drunk because the man in the street calls the offense "drunk driving."

However, if the arresting officer can demonstrate that the defendant was "under the influence" to the degree that his actions and his efficiency as a driver were impaired, the court will convict.

Rarely does a defendant admit to having more than "two beers." A few years ago, a motorist defended his erratic driving by asserting he had consumed a hamburger which caused him to become so violently ill he could not operate a car properly. After hearing the prosecution's side, the court found him guilty.

Raising the appearance bond to win temporary release from jail is more of a financial hurdle than some of the defendants can overcome.

The court requires a cash bond of $507.50 to assure the defendant will turn up for trial. Few families have that much cash under the mattress at home. If all the banks are closed, it's difficult to raise that much money on short notice. The police department and the court will not accept checks for bonds.

bond on behalf of the defendant. That procedure sometimes is followed when ready cash is unavailable, rather than allow the defendant to languish behind bars from Saturday night until Monday morning.

The local court will not permit a bond forfeiture to wipe out a drunk driving charge under any circumstances. If the defendant fails to appear, the court customarily forfeits the bond—which is posted only to guarantee appearance—and then orders the driver picked up on a bench warrant.

policy to guarantee persons and property against injury or damage if the convicted motorist should repeat the offense.

IT'S CALLED an "assigned risk" policy, deriving its name from the fact that a central insurance clearinghouse at Columbus assigns the policies of the convicted motorists to agencies on an impartial basis.

Any agency which participates in the "assigned risk" pool must provide the coverage for the motorist.

A driver whose permit was suspended a few months ago complained to Judge Chertoff Wednesday that he was required to pay a $263 premium on the "assigned risk" insurance to provide coverage for 12 months. That boils down to $22 a month, more than twice the amount usually paid by an adult driver for the best kind of coverage on a passenger car.

The suspension of the driver's license is only the beginning, thanks to Ohio's 12-point "demerit" system of penalizing motorists who are found to be habitual traffic offenders.

In an instance of a so-called moving violation—infraction of any law in a moving vehicle—the court is required to file a report immediately with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Accumulation of 12 points is sufficient to cause the state to certify the drivers case to a court in his area, asking that the Now formally charged, the defendant faces Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff who reads the affidavit and awaits his plea.

The smell of gun oil is filling many homes in the area as hunters begin preparing for the opening of another season.

Ohio's squirrel season will open next Friday, but the prospects don't look too promising in this vicinity.

The late frosts killed most of the mast and squirrels are scarce. Sportsmen who have been visiting in West Virginia and southern Ohio report that game is scarce in these areas. There are a few squirrels to be found, but not many.

In Pennsylvania, squirrel season doesn't open until Oct. 15. I haven't received reports yet from the Keystone State, but if there are as many squirrels as last year, it will be a hunter's paradise.

FISHING STILL is very much in the news, with the fish having to bite again.

Ed Green of Glenmoor has been lucky this summer, catching big catfish in Beaver Creek near Grimm's Bridge.

Tuesday morning Ed came in The Review office with a 26-inch catfish he had caught. He saved this one as "proof positive" of his catch. The fish weighed approximately 10 to 12 pounds.

Ed caught it on soft craws about 4 o'clock in the morning.

Ed Green has proof he catches big ones.

After displaying it, he took it back and released it in the creek.

Ed also caught some bass the same morning. The bass should begin heavy feeding shortly in preparation for winter.

I RECEIVED A CARD from my father who is fishing in Lake Erie this week from Middle Bass Island. The yellow perch are really biting and he said they are catching a few bass.

Fishermen returning from Canada are falling into two categories. Either the fishing was good or it was terrible. There doesn't seem to be any middle ground. Some say it was the best year they have ever had, while others say it was the worst.

IF YOU HAVE A BOY who is interested in shooting, why not enroll him in the Junior Rifle Club held at Wellsville under sponsorship of the Jaycees.

The club has been inactive this summer, but meetings will resume Wednesday night at 7 at the range on the third floor of City Hall. Membership is open to both boys and girls from 12 to 18. Former members also should attend to re-register.

The club has a charter with the National Rifle Association which will be renewed this fall for the fifth consecutive year.

The youths target shoot each Wednesday night, earning various ranks. Competition also is held against other shooting groups.

George Hardman is club leader and Daniel MacLean instructor.

Those joining are taught to shoot from the various standard positions, with safety continually stressed.

If you think you are a good shot with a .22 rifle, visit the club some night and watch the youngsters hitting the bulls-eye.

PENNSYLVANIA'S REGULAR TROUT season ends at midnight Monday, although fishermen can continue to enjoy trout fishing in 11 trout streams in 17 counties throughout the state in an extended season that will end at midnight Oct. 31.

Trout streams in nearby counties that will be open for autumn fishing include Buffalo Creek in both Armstrong and Butler counties and the Youghiogheny River in Fayette County.

Trout fishing also is permitted in state lakes and ponds of 10 acres or more until Oct. 31.

George E. Kevach of Monaca and Edmund Luther Jr. of Aliquippa each caught prize-winning fish recently in Beaver County in the Atlantic Richfield Co.'s contest. In addition to their cash prize for catching a tagged fish, each will receive a conservation patch with his name on it.

A NEW FILM, "At Home With Guns," has been added to the library of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. New prints of The Cottontail Rabbit, Bobwhite Through The Years, Trigger Happy Harry, Mourning Dove, Under Ohio Skies, More Ducks, Tomorrow We Hunt, Calling All Ducks, Behind The Flyways, The Lake Erie Story and Yours Is The Land also have been added to the library.

These films are 16-mm. in color and with sound. They are both educational and interesting. They may be obtained for group meetings by writing Film Library, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, 1500 Dublin Rd., Columbus, Ohio, 43212.

MUSKELLUNGE FISHERMEN in Ohio have enjoyed some excellent catches this year.

So far, 14 muskies weighing at least 20 pounds and measuring 40 inches or more have been taken, qualifying those who caught them for regular membership in the Huskie Muskie Club. Last year's total for this category was 14, indicating this will prove to be a better year because there still is much fishing time left.

The record for the largest muskie in 1966 is presently held by Raymond Hartwell of Ashtabula, who caught a 45-inch, 34-pounder in Pymatung Lake. He was using red worms.

The next largest was a 49-inch fish weighing 33 1/4 pounds, caught by Mrs. Mildred Hiles of Logan at Logan Lake. She was using meal worms.

The state record is 36 pounds, 10 ounces. This 51 1/2-inch fish was caught in 1964 at Leesville Lake.

WHEN YOU LEAVE your favorite fishing spot, don't forget to take your refuse with you—nobody else wants it!

The Law

We have many laws which assure you that you get what you pay for.

In some instances, human nature forced some honest weight laws onto the books. Many persons are all too familiar with the "quart of strawberries" purchased from a roadside stand which contained a hefty piece of bent cardboard at the bottom to make the container appear full.

CHARLIE made his living checking things. For instance for several years he worked with the highway department checking the depth of newly-poured concrete.

"Our specifications state that this slab must be just so thick, within a tolerance of a certain per cent," Charlie told a friend. "There are several reasons for this close tolerance. First, if the slab is too thin it will crack under the weight of traffic. Also, if the contractor would be so dishonest as to pour many of these slabs a quarter-inch too thin he could save enough cement on one big job to do a couple little ones, all at no cost to him."

CHARLIE had also worked for the Division of Weights and Measures. He checked packages in stores.

"A reasonable error is allowed here, too, to make certain the customer gets what he pays for," he said. "You can be pretty certain that if it says it weighs two ounces on the label, it's going to be close to that. For instance on anything weighing from zero to two ounces, the item cannot weigh less than 1/8 ounce nor more than 1/4 ounce than the weight stated on the label."

"It's too bad we have to check all this," Charlie lamented, "but some people's dishonesty does provide me with a living."

Sock Deposit

PUNTA GORDA, Fla.—Fred Farris thinks his "saving" habits will become normal again now that the bank has returned his socks.

Farris dumps his quarters and dimes into cigar boxes at the end of each day. As the amount increases, he puts them away in his old army socks. Twice annually, he takes stock of his savings—once at tax time and once at vacation time.

He carried socks and money to the bank recently as vacation time neared. The bank kept socks and all, giving him two canvas money bags for future collections.

But the money bags didn't seem quite normal to him. So it was a joyful day for him when he stopped by the bank and the cashier handed him a paper money sack containing his old Army socks.

Tri-State Tour Tips

Beautiful every season of the year, the Hocking County "Scenic Wonderland" will be at its very best in autumn when leaves take on many hues.

At that time Route 56, which cuts across the "Wonderland," will carry a heavy traffic of slowly moving vehicles. Many will stop at the various picnic spots for lunch and hikes into the hills.

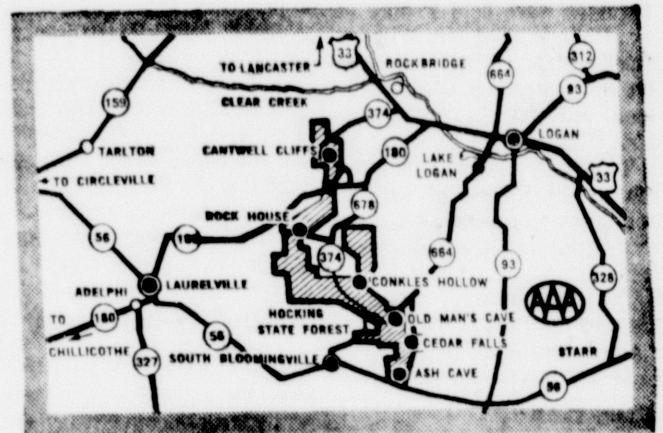

Hocking Hills State Park in Hocking State Forest includes 8,320 acres.

BOUNDED BY Routes 33, 664, 56 and 180, it has Circleville, Logan and Athens as its gateways. Lake Logan is in the area, offering fishing, boating and swimming.

Within its confines, Hocking Park has the widest variety of trees and plants to be found in Ohio. Approximately 100 kinds of birds are known to nest here, half of them remaining for the winter.

Top attraction of the area include:

Ash Cave, 80 acres on Ohio

56, a semi-circular recess in a large rock with a stream falling from the edge of the rock to a pool below.

Cantwell Cliffs, 386 acres on Ohio 374, featuring impressive cliffs with a deep rugged glen.

Conkle's Hollow, 57 acres on Ohio 374, a rugged area containing a deep picturesque glen, the valley ending in a small cave and waterfall.

OLD MAN'S Cave, 417 acres on Ohio 664, with two miles of heavily wooded gorge, waterfalls, two caves, and interesting rock formations.

Rock House, 165 acres on Ohio 374, where the distinctive feature is a rock house in the face of a perpendicular Cliff.

The Columbiana County Motor Club suggests Route 7 to Steubenville, Route 22 west to Lancaster, Route 33 south to Route 374 and west to the area.

Area Man Helps Solve Theft

An East Palestine man, while vacationing in Canada, played a key role in solving the theft of a valuable coin collection from a resident of Scarborough, Ontario.

He is Hubert Holtzman, who, with his wife and daughter, was a guest of Mrs. Holtzman's brother, Willard W. Mason, and family at the time.

WHILE WALKING along the bank of the Rouge River during a family outing in Pickering Township, Ontario, Holtzman spied an object in the water. It proved to be a suitcase containing a coin collection. Police were called quickly with the help of a "ham" operator.

Just as the officers arrived, Mrs. Mason discovered a second suitcase, near the spot where the first was found. It also contained coins, stamps and documents.

Both suitcases were taken to the office of the metropolitan police in Toronto, where the contents were examined, tabulated and returned to the owner, Fred Ruby of Scarborough.

BOTH HOLTZMAN and Mrs. Mason received a letter Aug. 30 from Police Chief R. T. Parker of the Pickering Township department thanking them for their assistance in the matter.

Mrs. Mason is a former East Liverpool resident and is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Delong of Chester. Mason, also a former local resident, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mason of LaCrosse, Wis.

Q—What suggestion do you have for a recipe for making a "quick" blueberry pie?

A—Line a nine-inch pie plate with vanilla wafers or lemon snaps. Make an instant vanilla pudding from a package. Pour it into a wafer-lined pie plate. Chill just before serving, cover the top with washed and dried fresh blueberries.

Q—How can I make a good soapless furniture wash?

A—By adding three tablespoons of raw or boiled linseed oil and two tablespoons of turpentine or mineral spirits to one quart of hot water, mixing well, and allowing to cool. Apply this wash with a soft cloth well wrung out, covering a small area at a time, wiping each part dry as you proceed, and polishing afterward.

Q—How can I make a good job of washing out dress shields?

A—Use lukewarm water and a teaspoon of baking soda for this. Rub soap on a small brush, and brush both sides of the shields. Then rinse in water of the same temperature.

MONEY CLIPS by Mont Reed

Magazine model

The Jefferson nickel is the first United States coin design ever selected in an open competition. One of the requirements for each contestant was that he use an authentic likeness of Jefferson in the submitted works. Sculptor Felix O. Schlag offered the winning design, topping 390 other artists.

Schlag did considerable research on Thomas Jefferson and as the deadline approached, was beginning to wonder if he would ever find the one portrait that would help him decide finally on his design. After many days of hunt and search, Schlag visited a secondhand bookstore in Chicago and browsed around the used-magazine section hoping for a miracle—and it happened. He opened an old paperback and found a portrait of Jefferson inside. It was just the one he needed.

The reverse design of the Jefferson nickel is a front elevation of Jefferson's home, Monticello. This subject was the choice of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a great admirer of Jefferson.

It is interesting to note how the numeral three was involved in the life of Thomas Jefferson. He was the third child of his parents, the third Thomas in his family and he attended three schools. He was the third member of the cabinet, he served three years as our third ambassador to France and was our third president. He wrote the Declaration of Independence at the age of 33. He created the three greatest ideals in history—Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness—and he disliked three things—royalty, nobility and fanaticism.

The designer's initials were never placed on the Jefferson nickel but a movement by an interested group of numismatists caused the initials FS to be placed on all future five-cent pieces.

RHODESIA'S Ministry of Posts announced the issuance of two new commemorative series. One marks the 28th Annual Congress of the Philatelic Society of Southern Africa held in Bulawayo. The second series honors the 20th anniversary of that country's national airline.

It is interesting to note that this is the first time that a special postage stamp has been issued in Rhodesia to mark a philatelic congress. The "Rhopes" stamps come in four values and designs.

The 3 pence depicts the Zeederberg Coach which carried early mail in that area. The 9 pence shows a likeness of Sir Rowland Hill, originator of the postal service system. The 1 shilling 6 pence illustrates the "Penny Black" first official postage stamp in the world. The 2 shillings 6 pence features British South Africa Company's 5 pound stamp, the first stamp in use there.

The airline anniversary stamps also come in a set of four. Depicted are various planes which have served the

Rain Termed Aid To Large Yield Of Corn

Although the rainfall in August was slightly under normal, it arrived at the proper time to provide for a bumper corn crop, according to the monthly report from Edwin Copeland of Millport, U. S. weather observer. The rainfall last month totaled 2.26 inches. The normal is 3.37.

The average temperature for August was 68.3 degrees, while the normal is 68.5. A high of 87 was recorded Aug. 30 and low of 43 Aug. 4.

There were 10 cloudy days, 13 clear days and 8 partly cloudy days for 51 per cent sunshine. This is below the average of 65 per cent.

"The rain arrived at the proper time at the first of the month and we had one of the best corn crops we have ever raised," Copeland commented.

He said more rain is needed now for the seed beds of the small grains which are to be planted in the last half of September and to provide fall pasture for livestock.

The rains varied over the county, with some areas receiving above average and others below average.

Woman's Estate Called Biggest In County's History

SALEM — The late Mrs. Mary Emery, a descendant of a pioneer Salem family, left an estate valued at $2,872,167, according to her will filed in Probate Court at Lisbon.
Said by Courthouse officials to be the largest ever filed in the county, it included $2,281,151 in stocks. Mrs. Emery was the widow of Frederick J. Emery, who was an official of the Deming Pump Co. for many years.
She left her entire estate to relatives, including three sons, George of Salem, Brooks of Princeton, N. J., and Frederick of Cleveland. Mrs. Emery died July 17 at the age of 87.

Bequests Are Listed From Brush Estate

Public bequests of $5,000 each to Grandview Cemetery in Salem, Mount Union Cemetery in Alliance and Silver Springs Cemetery at Hogestown, Pa., were made by the late Mrs. Maude Brush of 663 S. Lincoln Ave., Salem, according to her will which has been filed for probate at the Columbiana County Courthouse in Lisbon.
The Brush residence was left to the Salem Central Clinic and Hospital.
The estate of Mrs. Brush, widow of Louis H. Brush, co-founder of Brush - Moore Newspapers, Inc., was estimated at $1 million.
There were some other private bequests, but the bulk of the estate goes to her grandson, Thomas Stewart Brush, and his wife, Katherine, of New York City. There was an additional gift of 2,000 shares of Class B common stock of Brush-Moore Newspapers, set up as "The Thomas S. Brush Foundation, Inc. of New York City," a charitable trust.
Mrs. Brush died Aug. 18 at the age of 95.

York, Pa., Water Shortage Costing City $18,000 Daily

YORK, Pa. (AP) — It's costing $18,000 a day to truck water into this southern Pennsylvania city where a prolonged drought has virtually dried up its main source of supply.
"This is the worst," said Mayor John L. Snyder Friday, after declaring an emergency and asking for help from both the federal and state governments.
Snyder said a flood by Codorus Creek that caused millions in damage 33 years ago was not as bad.
"It was in August of 1933 when we had four days of heavy rains. The creek overflowed cutting the city in half. Damage was in the millions," Snyder said.
"But this is the worst. You can cope with a flood. You can evade the water by going to higher ground. What do you do when you're on dry ground?"
The York Water Co. said the Codorus Reservoir was dwindling at the rate of eight million gallons per day. Officials estimated that the current supply would last about a month.
In Harrisburg, the state capital, the Public Utility Commission said the company has been spending $18,000 a day hauling water from the Susquehanna River, 16 miles to the west. As the situation grew more critical, however, that amount was expected to reach $25,000 a day.
The 80,000 residents of this 225-year-old city are going through the long, hot summer under rigid restrictions on water use. No washing of cars, no sprinkling of lawns, no water served in restaurants, unless requested.
Since June, rainfall has measured a little over three inches in the York area, nine inches below normal. Agriculture officials estimate crop loss at $6 million in the county.
Snyder met with state officials in Harrisburg Thursday to seek support for his request for federal aid. The office of Gov. William W. Scranton said the matter was being considered.

2nd Reading Slated Tuesday On Weed Control Legislation

An ordinance to establish weed controls in East Liverpool is scheduled for the second of three required readings at Council's first September meeting Tuesday night at 8.
The legislation moved through first reading, 5-2, at the meeting of Aug. 15. Since it needed at least six affirmative votes for immediate enactment under suspension of rules, it was put on the calendar for action again at the next two subsequent sessions.
Councilman Harold Maylone and Floyd Murray opposed the measure. Favorable votes were cast by Councilman Frank Duffy, Robert W. Sample, Norman Bucher, Donna Richards Wilson and James Lowe.
Murray and Maylone did not question the need for weed controls, as such, but indicated they were concerned about the possible heavy new expense to the city in controlling weeds on municipal property and also providing manpower and equipment to cut the growths on private properties.
Council members were told the city would have to purchase another tractor and cutter bar and add two men to the street department during the weed-cutting season.
One section of the proposed ordinance provides that weeds or grass shall not be allowed to exceed a height of 18 inches. It provides a penalty of $50 for each day of violation.
Another section provides that Council will deliver a notice to any property - owner on whose land "noxious" weeds are growing, advising him to cut the growth within five days. If the owner fails to comply, the city will perform the work and charge the cost to the property on the real estate tax duplicate, the proposed legislation provides.
The legislation places the burden of implementation on Council. In addition to specifying that Council will send the original notice to the property owner, it says that Council will order the work done in cases of non-compliance and billed against the property.
Council also will consider legislation authorizing the administration to advertise for bids and award a contract for purchase of a second new police cruiser. Bids were opened Friday on the first cruiser under an authorization voted by Council in August.
Next week's meeting is a day later than usual because of the Labor Day holiday.

Single Bid Filed On New Cruiser

A single bid of $2,583 was filed Friday afternoon with Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey on purchase of a new auto for use as a police cruiser.
The offer was presented by Mike Turk, Inc., of E. 6th and Walnut Sts. on a 1967 Chevrolet Biscayne four-door sedan equipped to the city's specifications, including a V-8 motor. Turk asked $2,933 for the new car, less a $350 allowance for a trade-in of a 1964 model Chevrolet now used as a dog warden's car.
The mayor and director, comprising the Board of Control, voted to take the offer under advisement. Vodrey indicated the bid may exceed Council's appropriation for the new cruiser, possibly requiring a supplemental allocation of about $83.

Elderly Woman Pulled From Bus, Dragged, Robbed

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 76-year-old woman was pulled from a bus Friday, dragged several feet along the sidewalk by an assailant and then robbed of her purse and $7.
Several persons on a Cleveland Transit System bus watched without helping. Three persons behind Mrs. Nettie Koehn boarded the bus as she was dragged away. The bus closed its doors and pulled away from the curb.
"When we arrived, there was no one around—no suspect, no witnesses, no one except two frail women," said Detective Louis Garcia of the robbery squad.
A friend of Mrs. Koehn, Mrs. Anna Benes, 74, was the only one to get off the bus before it drove away.
Police said Mrs. Benes told them she had boarded the bus, and Mrs. Koehn was on the first step when one of two youths grabbed her purse. She hung on to it and was dragged away, police said. She suffered cuts on both arms and knees and her dress was ripped.
Mrs. Koehn was treated at St. Vincent Charity Hospital for her injuries and released.

5 Mishaps In Area

Driver, 32, Hurt In Auto's Plunge

A Rogers man escaped serious injury when his car plunged over a steep embankment near Rogers at 4:45 a.m. today, one of five area accidents investigated yesterday and today by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said James F. Young, 32, of Church St., Rogers, was westbound, on Route 154 just over a mile east of Route 7 when he lost control of his car on a left curve. The vehicle swerved off the right side of the highway and rolled down a 35-foot embankment, coming to rest on some railroad tracks.

Young was treated at Salem City Hospital for a laceration of the arm.

Vehicles operated by Michael P. Archie, 50, of Hoppel Dr., R. D. 3, and Joseph J. Blund, 28, of 171 Maine Blvd., figured in a crash at 11:30 a.m. yesterday at the intersection of County Rd. 435 and Armstrong Ln.

Hampson was cited for making an improper left turn and misuse of farm license plates.

Robert P. Crosser of Lisbon R. D. 4 was injured slightly but his 1964 model pickup truck was demolished in a mishap at 12:45 p.m. on County Rd. 411 four-tenths of a mile west of Route 45.

Officers said he failed to make a curve and his truck went off the highway and overturned. He was cited for speed in excess of road conditions.

A HAY WAGON being pulled by a tractor upset on Route 45 just over a mile south of Route 344 yesterday at 2:20 p.m. The tractor was being operated by John Sebrill, 16, of Lisbon R.D. 4.

The connector bar broke and the wagon overturned, spilling the load onto the highway, officers said.

Cars operated by Charles Genter, 18, of Lisbon R. D. 5 and William J. Seirs, also of Lisbon R. D. 5, figured in a mishap at 12:50 p.m. on Township Rd. 907 four miles south of Route 517.

Genter rounded a curve left of center and swerved to avoid hitting the oncoming Seirs car, officers said. His car went off the highway and overturned. Genter, who suffered abrasions and contusions of the right arm and elbow, was cited for driving left of center.

Officers were investigating an accident on Lisbon St. Ext. near the Westfield Rd. about 7:15 a.m. today in which an auto struck a utility pole. The wires were downed and traffic was detoured, officers said.

Ex-Convict Overpowers 2 Deputies, Flees In Cruiser

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — An ex-convict overpowered two sheriff's deputies on a Pomeroy street early today, then made his getaway in their cruiser.

Authorities in two states were alerted.

Sought by Ohio and West Virginia authorities was a man identified by the Meigs County Sheriff's Department here as Orville Landers, 27, of Pomeroy.

Sheriff's deputies Bob Beagle, 28, and Carl Hysell, 24, said Landers held them at knifepoint before fleeing across the Pomeroy-Mason Bridge, into West Virginia. Landers had been stopped, the deputies said, after they spotted his car weaving its way down a Pomeroy street.

Beagle and Hysell were not hurt.

The sheriff's office said Landers pulled a knife, grabbed Hysell, and held the blade at his throat. The deputies were relieved of their revolvers.

They reported that Landers then released them and fled over the bridge which crosses the Ohio River. The car was later spotted in Point Pleasant.

Beagle and Hysell were not hurt.

He and his family reside at 70 Kuhl Court, Walnut Creek.

W. Va., according to the sheriff's department.

Records in the sheriff's office here show that Landers has been in a number of correctional institutions, including the Mansfield Reformatory, on various charges.

At one time he was a patient at the Alton, Ill., State Hospital and has previously been arrested on charges including auto theft, assault, while serving time for desertion from the Army, according to the records.

Film Shown To Lions Club

William Vaupel, manager of the Hearing Aid Center at E. 6th St. and Broadway, screened a film, "How They Hear," for the program at the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

The complexities of the hearing mechanism were explained, and sounds as heard by persons with a hearing loss were simulated. Types and degrees of hearing impairment were listed.

The two dimensions of normal hearing, it was demonstrated, are the ability to hear sounds in their true volume and the ability to hear with clarity.

Although amplification may sometimes be of help to a person with a hearing loss, care must be taken to avoid irritation and harmful effects in the use of audio aids, it was pointed out.

Testing devices for hearing were displayed by Vaupel.

Richard Allison was program chairman.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

The board of directors held a session following the regular meeting.

Ed Shingler presided.

Motorcyclist, Woman Hurt In 2 Mishaps

LISBON — A Lisbon woman and a Wellsville motorcyclist received injuries in separate traffic accidents here Friday.

Mrs. Angeline M. Perri, 27, of 614 E. Lincoln Way, sustained a dislocated kneecap in a two-car crash at 7 p.m. at the junction of N. Beaver St. and N. Market St. (Route 45).

Policeman John Vokovich charged the other driver, James Wilson, 40, of Lisbon R. D. 5, with no license plates and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Stanley L. Wallenberg, 18, of Wellsville R.D. 1 suffered a puncture of the right shoulder and contusions of the left arm at 4 p.m. when his 1966 cycle glanced off car and hit a telephone pole.

The injured were treated by local physicians.

Police said Mrs. Perri, northbound on Beaver, stopped for N. Market traffic and was struck by Wilson's southbound 1955 sedan as he turned from Market onto Beaver. The crash demolished Wilson's auto and caused an estimated $400 damage to the other, police said.

The motorcycle-car collision occurred at the intersection of E. Chestnut and N. Jefferson Sts. Police said Wallenberg was driving east on Chestnut and was hit by a southbound 1964 sedan driven by Edrie Louise Ward, 54, of 264 E. Pine St., Lisbon.

Mrs. Ward told police she stopped for the stop sign, did not see anything coming and started forward. The bike glanced off the car and hit a telephone pole at the southeast corner of the intersection.

Police estimated $150 damage to the motorcycle and $25 damage to the hood of the car. No one was cited.

August Meter Income Lists $2,000 Boost

East Liverpool's new parking meters have made good on a promised major increase in revenue.

In August, their first full month of operation, the devices brought in $5,345.73. That's a gain of $2,096.26 from the $3,255.47 of August 1965.

The figure shows only the revenue from the so-called on-street meters. It does not include receipts from off-street meters — those on municipally-operated parking lots.

The city took delivery of 503 new manually-operated meters in mid-June from the Koonz Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh. It traded in an equal number of old meters — most of them 1947 models.

The installation of the new devices began on a piecemeal basis shortly after the delivery, but was not completed prior to the first of July. That's why the August figure represents the first full month of operation for all the new meters.

The city's contract calls for it to pay for the devices by the so-called "excess revenue" method. Under this plan, the manufacturer receives an amount representing the difference in receipts between each month of the current year and the corresponding month of the previous year.

If the revenue continues to show such large gains, the new meters will pay for themselves in a little more than 12 months. The total cost of the new devices was $25,401.

The city paid $60.50 per unit, less a $10 trade-in for the old meters.

East Liverpool's original installation of meters cost $32,000. The price covered 475 automatic types put into service in September 1947.

The figures on August's revenue, comparing it with the same month last year, were compiled by Auditor Lawrence H. Zollinger and his aide, E. Allan McKeever.

Mayor George E. Willshaw said he is well-pleased with the revenue gain and pointed out both the administration and Council had supported the contention the new devices would pay for themselves.

"But I am more pleased with the way the new meters operate, cutting motorists' complaints almost to zero," he said. "Before the new meters were installed, many ticketed drivers complained that the old meters did not work properly. Now it's a rare occasion when we get a complaint of a meter malfunction."

poor countries that draw their water from unclean sources.

Noting that water needs are great today — and he cited the continuing drought in the northeastern United States — Johnson wondered aloud what the situation might be at the end of the century when experts predict the present global population of 3 billion will have doubled.

The battle for pure water must be won, he said, adding: "A genuine peace cannot be founded in a desert, or among crowded nations starved for this elemental — yes, this divine — gift."

In Dallastown, as in many other points along his weekend speechmaking routes in recent weeks, a first-term Democrat is facing strong opposition from a Republican challenger. The incumbent is Rep. N. Neiman Craley Jr.

The one-day foray into West Virginia and Pennsylvania — Johnson is due back at the White House before dark — is the prelude to a heavier schedule Monday, when Johnson will travel to Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., and Dayton and Lancaster, Ohio.

The Democratic party will pick up the tab for the President's expenses on Labor Day.

Today's trip, with its presidential appearances at civic functions, was labeled "nonpolitical" by the White House.

However, Johnson has been managing to find nonpolitical occasions to visit congressional districts where freshmen Democrats face potential troubles — and he is known to believe that his own popularity, sagging a bit in the polls of late, benefits from personal exposure.

The $46-million Summersville dam on Gauley River backs up a flood control reservoir designed to help control the waters of the Ohio and Mississippi river basins. In addition, a public recreation area is being established along the banks of the man-made lake behind the dam.

If the weather posed an element of uncertainty in West Virginia, possible racial violence could upset the President's Labor Day visit to Dayton.

Johnson's intention to visit the Ohio city was announced Thursday shortly before National Guardsmen were ordered into the streets there to quell rioting and looting in a Negro section following the fatal shooting of a Negro man.

The sheriff for the county immediately urged that the presidential visit be canceled. The White House said that, as of today, Johnson will go to Dayton.

Johnson Scheduled To Stop In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Johnson's Labor Day travel plans now include a stop within Columbus' city limits, it was announced Friday night.

However, there has been no indication Johnson will be able to stretch his schedule to include a look at the Ohio State Fair as guest of Gov. James A. Rhodes, Rhodes, a Republican, says he has invited Johnson to visit the fair, which ends Labor Day.

Johnson is scheduled to stop in Dayton, Columbus and Lancaster on the holiday. Local Democrats will meet him at each stop.

beyond control. They kept a stream of water on the barn roof across the road to extinguish sparks and embers.

Only standing chimneys and smoking timbers remain of the eight-room, slate-roof home which had been in the name of Frank Rudibaugh of Lisbon since 1905. The former owner was Jacob Van Fossan.

Rudibaugh, who moved into Lisbon a few years ago to live with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cope, left this morning for his annual trip to the Canfield Fair also unaware of the fire. Mrs. Cope, one of 10 Rudibaugh children born at the homestead, said the house is insured.

Jones' mother said they recently bought new furniture, rugs, a television set and an electric stove. Everything was destroyed.

The mother said some of her things were in the house. She and her husband formerly operated a sportsmen's store at Smiths Ferry and had a trailer agency.

New Area Given T.S.T. Salesman

William R. Kennedy has been named northern California sales representative for the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Co. of Chester, designers and manufacturers of American dinnerware.

William L. Smith III, president of the company, said Kennedy will coordinate sales and service to retail stores in San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Richmond, Sacramento, San Jose, Stockton and other northern California communities. He will operate out of Walnut Creek.

Taylor, Smith and Taylor is the designer and manufacturer of "Design 70," a new ceramic ironware dinnerware in five all-color patterns. It will be given major sales emphasis in northern California's leading department stores and specialty stores, Smith said.

Kennedy, 36, joined TS&T 12 years ago and was named sales representative for the Pennsylvania-New York State territory in 1958. He is a native of Sebring, an Air Force veteran and attended Kent State University.

He and his family reside at 70 Kuhl Court, Walnut Creek.

Blue Angels Pilot Killed At Air Show

TORONTO (AP) — A member of the U.S. Navy's crack aerial acrobatic team, the Blue Angels, was killed Friday when his plane crashed on the shore of Lake Ontario within view of thousands of air show fans.

The swept-wing Grumman F11 Tiger was making a high-speed solo flyby when it crashed about 3,000 yards from the packed grandstand during the Canadian International Air Show at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Wreckage of the plane hurtled through the air, cutting the leg of a helicopter pilot on the shore. No other injuries were reported.

A shocked silence fell over the waterfront after the crash. The other five pilots called off the rest of their 23-minute show and returned to Toronto Airport, making one low-level pass as a salute to their fallen comrade before landing.

The pilot, Lt. Dick Oliver, 31, of Fort Mill, S.C., was to complete his three-year hitch with the Blue Angels in November. He was the father of two children, now living with his divorced wife.

USW Declared Bargaining Agent For New Plant

WHEELING — The United Steelworkers union has been declared the rightful bargaining agent for the new Wheeling Steel Corp. fabricating plant here, clearing the way for work on overhauling the plant to resume.

The National Labor Relations Board said Friday the Steelworkers represented workers at the plant before it was shut down last year, and should also represent the workers as the plant now undergoes overhauling for a new production line.

The dispute had frozen repair work for the past six weeks. Wheeling Steel wants to reopen the plant under a new $8.8 million contract by the Defense General Supply Center, Richmond, Va., to produce 24,000 steel shipping containers.

A company spokesman said, "we will, of course, abide by the ruling," pending a full review of the NLRB. He said renovation work could get started by the first of next week.

Chairmen Set By PTA Unit

Committee chairmen for the coming year were announced by Vincent DeFilippo, president, during a meeting of the executive board of the Wellsville Hillcrest - Fairview Parent-Teacher Association Friday night.

The session was held at DeFilippo's home in Hillcrest. Named were Mrs. Myrna Deem, ways and means; Mrs. Vronnie Rassbach, program; Mrs. Nellie Echols, hospitality; Mrs. Cathy Riddle, membership; Mrs. Marcella James, publicity and historian; Mrs. Janet Campbell, magazines; Mrs. Dianne DeFilippo, publications, and Vincent Imburgia, parliamentarian.

Samuel Linger, new principal of the Fairview-McKinley buildings, was appointed PTA vice president. He succeeds Tom Jones, former principal of the buildings.

Mrs. Maxine Netti is secretary and Mrs. Mary Ann Potts treasurer.

The first meeting of the membership has been changed from next Thursday to Sept. 13. Babysitters will be provided during the meeting.

A PTA workshop will be held Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at Daw Junior High School.

Boy Struck By Auto Treated At Hospital

A 7-year-old Wellsville boy was injured slightly when struck by a car on Main St. near 9th St., Wellsville, Friday at 8:18 p.m.

Police said Craig Buck, son of William Buck of 952 Main St., darted into the path of a car operated by Paul Gearin of Irondale.

The boy ran from between two parked cars.

Gearin was traveling slowly and applied his brakes, police said. The car bumped the boy and whirled him around, causing him to sprawl on the pavement. The child was carrying candy in his hand, which he never dropped, police said.

Craig was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the right hip.

The walking stick, a twig-like insect, is the skunk of its small world. This small, wingless creature ejects a vile spray from glands in its thorax whenever menaced by an enemy.

Pittsburgh Area's Milk Prices Go Up

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The price of milk was up 1½ cents a quart today in the 12-county Pittsburgh marketing area.

The State Supreme Court, in a 5-2 decision, cleared the way for the increase Friday by denying a petition filed by the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County against the price boost.

The court overruled a temporary stay granted by Justice Michael A. Musmanno, permitting a state Milk Control Commission order to go into effect.

The commission granted the hike earlier in the month following hearings in Pittsburgh. Allegheny County commissioners instructed County Solicitor Maurice Louik to find another way to block the increase.

Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh instructed city attorneys to join with the county to stop the order.

Entry Attempt Probed At City House Trailer

John Sidel told police a would-be burglar apparently attempted unsuccessfully to enter his house trailer at 121 Reynolds St. while the family was absent from Sunday until Friday night.

Sidel told police he left home at 2 p.m. Sunday and discovered the entry attempt when he returned at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The intruder attempted to force open the rear door, breaking the handle, and also forced open jalousie windows in the door and tore the screen. Sidel said it appeared the intruder did not gain entry and he believes nothing is missing.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Betty Bishop of 255 Drain St. told police at 8:45 p.m. Friday a blue dress, size 10, was stolen from her home between 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. yesterday.

HIGH STEPPING Bob Hayes (22) of the Dallas Cowboys picks up yardage as he runs past Viking defenders in Friday night's game at Dallas. (UPI Telephoto)

Bears Nip Cards; Cowboys On Top

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was just like old times for Dick Wood and the Oakland Raiders. He threw and they caught.

Only one problem: he plays now for the new Miami Dolphins.

So Wood's misguided accuracy cost the Dolphins a shocking upset in their first regular season game as they lost to the Raiders 23-14 in the American Football League opener.

The Chicago Bears nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 22-20 on five field goals by Roger LeClerc and Bob Hayes scored on two long pass plays to pace Dallas over Minnesota 28-24 as the National Football League began its final weekend of exhibition contests.

The AFL resumes its regular season tonight when Denver plays at Houston and Sunday when Buffalo and San Diego, last year's championship game opponents, meet in San Diego, Calif.

In the NFL exhibitions to night, Cleveland plays Pittsburgh at Birmingham, Ala.; New York takes on Green Bay at Milwaukee, Wis.; Philadelphia plays at Washington, and San Francisco is at Los Angeles.

Wood, the former Oakland quarterback who went to the Dolphins in the draft, completed three passes in 12 attempts and had four intercepted. Those four — two each by Howie Williams and Dave Grayson — led to 10 points for Oakland and cut off two Miami scoring threats.

"Except for the alertness of Williams and Grayson, we would have been in real trouble," said Raider Coach John Rauch.

Joe Auer, formerly of the Los Angeles Rams, gave the Raiders a jolt by racing 95 yards for a touchdown with the opening kickoff.

But then interceptions put the Raiders twice on the Dolphin 16 in the second period and Oakland turned them into a two-yard touchdown run by Hewitt Dixon and a 16-yard field goal by Mike Mercer.

The other two thefts occurred deep in Oakland territory.

Hayes teamed first with Don Meredith and then Craig Morton on scoring plays of 48 and 44 yards in the last half as the Cowboys overcame a 10-7 halftime deficit for a 5-0 exhibition record.

Fran Tarkenton threw 15 yards to Paul Flatley for a score to pull the Vikings within four points and hit Flatley again in the final minutes for the last score.

LeClerc kicked from 45, 22, 38, 33 and 33 yards out, the final coming in the opening minutes of the last period.

St. Louis had built a 20-12 lead on Charley Johnson's 71-yard aerial to Jackie Smith, a one-yard plunge by Willis Crenshaw and two field goals by Jim Bakken.

But Rudy Bukich hit Jimmy Jones for a 14-yard touchdown and LeClerc connected.

Emerson Unimpressive In Gaining 2nd Round

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — This, very likely, could be the last appearance at the U.S. tennis championships for Australia's Roy Emerson, winner in 1961 and 1964.

But of deeper impact to the international tennis scene, the year could very easily mark the end of his contribution, since 1959, to Australia's Davis Cup fortunes.

The 29-year-old Emerson spoke easily about his prospects and about his current game which was as rusty as an old hinge Friday as he swung inconsistently and had trouble beating unheralded Ismael el Shafie, an 18-year-old Egyptian, 6-3, 9-7, 9-7.

The verdict put Emerson in the second round where he will rest until a foe is decided between Chuck Darley of Rochester, Minn., and Betsy Harrison of Richmond, Va.

He was joined by Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.; Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio; and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., U.S. Davis Cuppers and all seeded below Emerson who is No. 2 on the list to defender Manuel Santana of Spain.

Today's schedule had Ralston, seeded third, playing another Australian, Martin Mulligan; Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., seeded fifth, against Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N. Y.; Richey, seeded eighth, vs. Australian Owen Davidson, and Tony Roche of Australia, seeded fourth, facing Sherwood Stewart of Baytown, Tex.

While Ralston was beating India's Jasjit Singh, 6-1, 6-3, 7-5; Graebner was defeating Francisco Guzman of Ecuador, 6-1, 7-5, 6-2; and Richey was walloping Keith Jennings of New Canaan, Conn., 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 to complete the four seeded players' advance for the day.

Bucs Length In Front As Giants Fall

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente says he's a better home-run hitter than people think, but the Chicago Cubs would rather not think about it.

The Pittsburgh outfielder's three-run homer against the Cubs Friday was thought provoking in more ways than one.

In the first place, it was Clemente's 2,000th major-league hit. It was also his 23rd homer, tying his best season-long effort in that department. And it gave

Clemente Homers For 2,000th Hit

Roberto 101 runs batted in, San Francisco, tied with the Bucs when the day's action began, lost to St. Louis 6-5 in 12 innings.

But most important, says Roberto, the fifth-inning shot boosted the Pirates to a 7-3 victory and sole tenancy of first place in the National League.

Elsewhere in the league, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 6-1, Philadelphia shut out New York 6-0 and Atlanta won a double-ers stayed two games back of the Pirates.

Jim Bunning pinned the Mets back on six hits and Rich Allen clubbed a pair of homers for the Phillies fourth victory in their last five games. Allen now has 35 home runs.

Ed Mathews hit two homers in Atlanta's opening victory and Pat Jarvis stopped Houston on four hits in the finale. It was Atlanta's first doubleheader victory of the season.

Walker Doesn't Watch Scoreboard

Clemente Matches Homer Mark, Exceeds 100 RBIs

By IRA MILLER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Roberto Clemente won't play "homer" and Harry Walker refuses to play "scoreboard," but both games may bear significance for the Pittsburgh Pirates in the weeks to come.

Clemente, who has matched his career high for home runs and exceeded it for RBIs this year, says he isn't swinging for the homers.

Walker says something he learned from Joe McCarthy taught him not to watch the scores of other pennant contenders while his contending team was playing a game.

Friday night at Forbes Field, Clemente smashed his 23rd homer of the year for his 200th major league hit, leading the Pirates to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs and into a one-game lead in the National League race.

Clemente says he has always been a good long ball hitter, but the statistics don't bear him out. Aside from 1961, when he had 23, this is the only year he has been over 20. And though Walker can't do anything about it while the Bucs are playing, the results of other contenders are of obvious importance to Pittsburgh.

"If we don't win it doesn't make much difference what the others do," Walker says. "Because we can't go anywhere. It's something like the weather. You can't do anything about it, so why worry about it?"

Walker said the lesson from McCarthy the great Hall of Fame manager, came early in his career.

Orioles Lose, Lead Stands At 9½ Games

By DICK COUCH

Al Kaline began his vacation by working overtime, but Willie Horton and Mickey Stanley split the difference on Detroit's first payday of the month.

Embry, 29, Will Retire From Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Big Wayne Embry, always a threat to opposing players because of his size, announced his retirement Friday after eight seasons with the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association.

Unheard of when he came to the Royals from Miami University at Oxford, Embry became one of the NBA stars, playing in four All-Star Games.

Embry said he accepted a job as regional representative for a soft drink bottling company in Cincinnati. He stressed he was quitting the Royals at the age of 29 because "of the long range opportunity and security" with his employer.

"Admittedly, I was disappointed some last year," he said. "I play the game to win and when I play I want to be a contributing factor. I just don't think I was a contributing factor. It never bothered me as long as we were winning, but then at the end when we started to lose, I began to wonder about myself."

Embry was the Royals captain. At 6-foot-8 and 255 pounds he was the starting center for nearly eight years.

His lifetime scoring average is 14.1 points per game, and his best season was 1961-62 when he scored 1,484 points in 75 games and just fell short of 1,000 rebounds.

PITCHING — Jim Bunning, Phillies, shut out the New York Mets on six hits as Philadelphia won 6-0.

BATTING — Roberto Clemente, Pirates, hit a three-run homer as Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 7-3 and took over National League lead. It was his 2,000 major league hit, his 23rd homer, which equals his season high, and gave him 101 runs batted in, the first time he has topped the 100 RBI mark.

Frank H. Weir, Reporter-Author, Claimed At 59

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Frank H. Weir, a newspaperman, who once wrote a book giving advice to candidates seeking public office, is dead at the age of 59.

Weir, a long-time reporter for the Philadelphia Inquirer, died Friday at Bryn Mawr Hospital of what was described as a heart ailment.

He was co-author of the book, "I'd Rather Be President: A Guide to Eager Candidates," which offered tongue-in-cheek advice for persons running for public office.

He began his journalism career in 1932 with the old Philadelphia Ledger. He joined the Inquirer in 1942 and was assigned to the newspaper's Washington bureau.

Over the years, he had been awarded the M. L. Annenberg Memorial Award for writing; an American Bar Association certification for a series of articles on the backlog of cases in American courts and numerous awards from the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association and the Philadelphia Press Association.

A study on all types of accidents entitled, "Year Round Safety Guide" that Weir wrote is to appear in Sunday's edition of the Inquirer.

He is survived by his widow, Jannette; a daughter Ruth, and a sister, Mrs. Ruth Weir Miller, executive director of the Philadelphia World Affairs Council.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Sept. 3, the 246th day of 1966. There are 119 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1783, the Treaty of Paris between England and the United States officially ended the American Revolution.

On this date:

In 1894, the first national Labor

Day holiday was declared by an act of Congress.

In 1919, the permanent rank of general was conferred on John J.

In 1942, reciprocal lend lease was formalized between the United States and France.

In 1943, the Allies invaded the mainland of Italy.

In 1944, the Finns announced their agreement to stop fighting with the Russians.

Five years ago — The Soviet Union again challenged Western rights to unrestricted access to West Berlin by air.

One year ago — Indian Prime Minister Shastri told his people that, in his words, the hour of crisis is upon the country. This was during the India-Pakistan crisis over Kashmir.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATSUP

QUESTION: How did they ever get the name catsup?

ANSWER: Our picture shows something familiar riding in toward us on a magic carpet which is coming from the mysterious East. It's a bottle of catsup. Does this mean that bottles of catsup are made up in the East and shipped to the U.S.A.? Not at all. The picture symbolizes the fact that the idea of catsup — which is a blending of the pulp of tomatoes with mustard, vinegar, sugar, salt and spices from the East — originally came to us from the Orient. Now that this is clear, we can answer the question. The name comes from an Oriental word for the mixture, which sounds like "Ketchup". From this came our different ways of spelling and pronouncing the word. It may be catchup, or catsup, or ketchup, or ketchup. Whichever word is used, it has nothing to do with cats supping, or some one catching up with someone else. You may wonder which of these words we consider the correct one. We can't answer that, it's a matter of taste — with all four words tasting the same.

FOR YOU TO DO: Choose your favorite of the four words. Then compare with the word as printed on an actual bottle of catsup (or ketchup).

Margaret Maloy of Dover, Del., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
